ABSTRACT

This document reports data on on-campus enrollment and student geographic origins in Arkansas higher education for Fall 1989 in 12 figures and 25 tables. Part I treats on-campus enrollment by institution (at public four-year colleges, public two-year institutions, and all independent institutions), student level (data for Fall 1980 through 1989), student demographic factors (Fall 1980-1989, full- or part-time status, sex, and age) and by enrollment at public institutions by level and residency. An appendix to Part I contains 14 tables showing enrollment trends and student demographic factors by institution. Part II presents statistics on geographic and institutional origins of Arkansas college students, Fall 1989, including first-time-entering undergraduate students (data for Fall 1985 through Fall 1989), geographic origins of undergraduate students, entering undergraduate transfer students, and institutional origins of graduate and first professional students. An appendix to Part II contains tables on geographic origins of Arkansas college students by institution. Another appendix lists institutional names and abbreviations. (JB)

Based on the number of new college freshmen reported elsewhere in this publication, the Arkansas college-going rate for 1989 was 45.5%, the seventh consecutive yearly increase. This figure measures the number of full-time entering freshmen at all Arkansas colleges and universities as a proportion of the previous year's high school graduates.

The 1989 college-going rate is the highest in state history, up over seven percent since Fall 1982, when the rate began its steady climb. This positive indicator of educational progress reflects changes in the state's education system since 1983, including growth in the number of Arkansas high school students who take college prep courses in high school. Widespread public discussion in recent years about the importance of higher education has also contributed to greater student interest in post-secondary educational opportunities.
